SODA 308 | Complete Source Inventory

Singapore development model • Consolidated from six uploaded course documents and earlier project research discussions • Prepared November 2026

How to read this list: Section A identifies published material actually cited or listed in your uploaded papers. Section B includes additional research discussed while designing the comparison. Section C lists data sources considered for the five-category dataset, which are not proof that data was downloaded or used. Section D records unresolved links and evidence types. Duplicates are combined.

Discussed when selecting well-being indicators.

C. Public data portals considered for the five-category comparison

These are research leads and intended dataset sources, not documentation that every metric has been collected. Some public sites provide free summaries but restrict microdata or detailed downloads.

Economic development

1. World Bank, World Development Indicators / DataBank [link]
GDP PPP, GDP growth, unemployment, FDI, trade, life expectancy, poverty and other country-year indicators.

2. International Labour Organization, ILOSTAT [link]
Wages, employment, productivity, hours worked.

3. Harvard Growth Lab, Atlas of Economic Complexity [link]
Export diversification, trade composition, economic complexity.

Living standards and human development

1. UNDP, Human Development Reports [link]
HDI and historical development components.

2. World Bank, Poverty and Inequality Platform [link]
International poverty measurements; uneven historical coverage.

3. OECD Affordable Housing Database [link]
Housing costs and affordability; limited geographic coverage.

4. UNESCO Institute for Statistics [link]
Education participation and attainment.

5. WHO Global Health Observatory [link]
Health outcomes, healthcare service coverage, mental health.

6. ILO World Social Protection Database [link]
Social welfare coverage and protection.

Happiness and social well-being

1. World Happiness Report, data-sharing page [link]
Life evaluations and related national indicators.

2. Gallup Global Emotions [link]
Positive and negative affect; raw data may require access.

3. World Values Survey [link]
Trust, values, perceived freedom and attitudes.

4. OECD Time Use Database [link]
Leisure and time allocation; geographic limitations.

Political freedom and governance

1. V-Dem Dataset [link]
Democracy, civil liberties, freedom of assembly, civil society, elections.

2. World Bank, Worldwide Governance Indicators [link]
Government effectiveness, corruption, rule of law.

3. Reporters Without Borders, World Press Freedom Index [link]
Press freedom.

4. Freedom House, Freedom in the World [link]
Political rights and civil liberties.

Inequality and social mobility

1. UNU-WIDER, World Income Inequality Database [link]
Gini and historical income inequality.

2. World Inequality Database [link]
Top 10%, bottom 50%, wealth and income shares.

3. Standardized World Income Inequality Database (SWIID) [link]
Market vs disposable income inequality; redistribution.

4. World Bank, Global Database on Intergenerational Mobility [link]
Educational mobility and cohort-based opportunities.

5. World Bank, ASPIRE [link]
Welfare coverage, benefit adequacy and impacts.

Singapore-specific primary data

1. Singapore Department of Statistics, TableBuilder [link]
Singapore wages, income, demographics, health, education.

2. data.gov.sg, HDB resale housing datasets [link]
Housing transactions and historical prices.

3. Singapore Ministry of Manpower [link]
Employment policies and labor statistics.

4. Singapore Central Provident Fund Board [link]
Retirement, housing and healthcare savings programs.

D. Other evidence and unresolved items

1. APA PsycNet record included in your source-links document [link]
Bibliographic title and authors were not established from the uploaded files; confirm before citing.

2. Unspecified Kaggle Pokémon datasets
The Week 7 document discusses Pokémon data from Kaggle, not Singapore data. No exact Kaggle dataset URL or title is provided; excluded from the Singapore bibliography.

3. Interviews, first-person accounts, and quotations
No specific Singapore-related interview transcript, interviewee, or attributed quotation was found in the six uploaded documents. Do not label an interview as used without a traceable source.

4. Preliminary country-case proposal
The September 5 document lists possible comparison countries and time periods, but it is your own planning material, not an outside reference.

Scope note: This inventory consolidates identifiable materials in the six uploads and sources explicitly discussed in the available SODA 308 project history. It cannot establish what you consulted outside those records. A few research-discussion citations need bibliographic verification, and article links may be paywalled even when bibliographic records are freely available.
